PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

Editor George Ifft of the Pocatello Tribune, is a guest at the Halls, en route to Washington on matters connected with the coming opening of the Fort Hall reservation. Mr. lfit stated today his belief that the opening would come in the spring and the lands probably disposed of somewhat on the lot-tery plan. He said the town was greatly elated over the settlement of the shops question, and it really meant total expenditure of over a million dollars before the entire plant was ompleted. Contractors were looked for any day with active construction to begin as soon as men could be gathered for the work. This would mean a great boon for Pocatello and with the opening of the reservation the town was sure to grow rapidly. Mr. Ifft says the Italian band did not draw a big audence as they played on Sunday night. and Sunday is a poor day to get people out in Pocatello.

K. R. Casper, representative of the Mining and Engineering Journal of San Francisco, is a guest at the Kenyon. Mr. Casper has been traveling over the northwest in the interest of his paper, and says that while there is not so much doing in lead and silver, or copper, there is an immense activity in gold mining. On the west slope of the Cascade ranges there have been some important discoveries made in gold finds, and in eastern Oregon he never saw the beat. All of the more valuable metals seem to be running there, with valuable discoveries being made in gold. Mr. Casper has a very high appreciation of Salt Lake and says that there is a large amount of country to the north tributary to this city where the people are looking to Salt Lake as the coming inter-mountain metro-polis. He will be in this vicinity for William Dix, of Park Valley, is guest at the White house. He says the gold mining outlook in Boxelder county is very promising and that in his mine, the Alameda, he has just made a strike from which he expects a good deal. Mr. Dix reports a good deal of interest taken in that part of the county mining men the state by mining men.

W. D. Watson of Idaho Falls, is a guest at the Cullen. He reports the advent of immigrants in his immediate part of the state at the rate of forty families per year. He says the shipments of hay and grain at Idaho Falls are steadily increasing, new buildings are in process of erection, and the country is building up with remarkable

DECKNEA

The above sketch represents the seven story building to be erected immediately adjoining the new Deseret News building on the west, and to be known as the "Deseret News Annex." It will be erected of brick and steer, except the front, which will be of brown stone to match the main building. Although seven stories in height, its roof will merely be level with that of the six story corner building. The urgent needs of the Deseret News, with the many requests from tenants who could not be taken care of in view of the lensing of the three upper stories of the main building to the Oregon Short Line, has ne essitated an entargement of the "Annex," which was originally designed to be only four stories high. One entire floor of the "Annex" has already been engaged by the Oregon Short Line, who found that the three stories in the main building were not sufficient for their needs. The ground space of the "Annex" is 41 feet by 111; the alley will be built over, so that above the ground floor the dimensions will be 55 by 111

partment two floors, and the job department one floor, the presses being in the basement. This will leave two floors to rent. The old building, which has for some time served as the office of the superintendent of the new structure, W. S. Burton, has been razed to the ground, Mr. Burton's office now having been transferred to the new building, the lower part of which is now enclosed and heated by steam. The old building, which has for years stood on the site of the "Annex," was formerly occupied by John Farrington's livery stable. In old times it was the home of the H. B. Clawson hide, wool and powder business and the location is a memorable one from the building and damaged many other buildings which surrounded it. The ground was owned by Mrs. Emily Y. Clawson, but was sold by her to the Church a few months back. The Oregon Short Line will remove to the new premises about March 1, 1902.
